Preface

While searching a problem fit enough to be explored upon, I was almost out of breath. Some how, it appeared to me, that almost in every field of education there was hardly any area or any topic which had not become the target of researchers in education. To my sheer luck my father Dr. A. N. Joshi came to my rescue and after searching a lot we reached this conclusion that the perception of Ivan Ilach was not in vain when he said that the school was going to die. Well, the school is dead as the climate there in, is highly polluted and radiated. Discussion with him also resulted in an observation intelligently made by him that the cause of this fatal pollution was fundamentally the social and political pollution that has gradually crept into the college climate unfortunately, This finding, let me confess, gave me the sudden feeling of Eureka, but they, came other cross questions from him who was trying to row against the flow of the stream. I wondered, why was he behaving in this way, but then, a few minutes after, I was again happy when he smilingly said, that the discussion had been very fruitful while he appreciated my searching spirit and questioning attitude.

The present work is an humble submission in the hands of great scholars in the field of education. I believe, this work is going to give a light which may help to give direction to the educationists to find his intricate path through the 'mess politics' in society today.

Acknowledgement

On the occasion when this book is to see the light of the day it would be highly unfair if I do not acknowledge persons who helped me directly or indirectly. Let me state that my father Dr. A.N. Joshi, Ex-Reader, Department of Education, Hindu College, Moradabad and my mother Dr. Kusum Joshi, Ex-Librarian and Teacher, Gandhi Public School, Moradabad were the guardian angels in the respect of whom I bow down my head first.

Next was my father-in-law Late (Shri) Vijay Kumar Tiwari, I.P.S. (Retired), who was always there with me. I am also thankful to my husband Mr. Vivek Tiwari, Advocate, High Court (Lucknow Bench) who always encouraged and supported me to proceed with this work.

I will be failing in my pious duty if I do not bow my head in reverence to my Jeejaji Mr. K.M. Dixit, IRS, Commissioner (Income Tax). I must also not fail to thank my son Varchasva whose encouragement, support and love always enlightened my path.

On the top of these, there smiles my Grand Ma in the heaven, full of blissful tears, who opened the gate of knowledge that gave me matchless strength and power to steer my pen to reach the helm and win laurels in the shape of Gold Medals thrice for being University topper.

Thank you all.
